ADOLF HITLER MEMORIAL ISSUE

April, 2009

Issue # 2

INTRODUCTION

Racial Greetings, and welcome to the second issue of Troops of Tomorrow's publication, the T.O.Tenkopf! This is a special memorial issue for Adolf Hitler, a man whom without his existence, our organization would not be here today.

That particular statement I just made I feel should be elaborated upon a bit, as it is something that has been on my mind quite constantly for the past year or so. I fail to understand the "movements" constant avoidance, and even downright hostility, of the subjects of Hitler and National Socialism.

On one hand, I can admittedly understand some people's reluctance. Many fools have soiled the image of American National Socialism, by making it into a parody of what it once was, as well as having little knowledge of what actually constitutes being a National Socialist. Uniformed fetishism and the desire to cover everything with a swastika is enough to make any normal-thinking person a little wary.

That said, the actions of a few people who live off of bad publicity and offending people, does not an invalid ideology make. To those who say it does, to this I say: what of the countless meth-addicted AB, NLR & PEN1 "skinheads" who the media has presented as the face of the skinhead movement? Does this now mean we should stop being skinheads due to the actions of some fools who have hijacked the imagery in order to validate their decadent and degenerate lifestyles? I think not.

Many of us, regardless of belief in National Socialism, look to Ian Stuart Donaldson as the ultimate archetypical skinhead. That said, they conveniently forget that Ian Stuart wanted, in his words, "a National Socialist world". His room was adorned with swastikas and symbols of National Socialism and Fascism. He didn't waltz around in Nazi uniforms, but he was a National Socialist nonetheless. We are not asking for every member of the movement to become a National Socialist, but rather, not to forget the massive impact that Hitler and the NSDAP/National Socialism have made on the movement. There is far too much disrespect for the very things that influenced the original skinhead scene, and movement in general!

Perhaps our organization's strong stance in favor of Hitler and National Socialism will turn some off from us. That's OK, we can handle it. We recognize that our ideology and way of life is not for everybody. We simply feel that surrendering the traditional symbolism, lifestyle, heroes and ideologies of National Socialism and Fascism in favor for a little more support just isn't worth it. It largely boils down to being able to get up in the morning, look at yourself in the mirror, and realize that you are doing your best, and staying true to what you believe. With us, we wouldn't have our organization any other way. Besides, it's a big movement, with lots of room for different ways of thought, and some very honorable organizations in the Blood and Honour alliance that will fit the needs of any decent White person, regardless of ideology or beliefs.

We only ask for respect, and not to be equated with fools who have made a mockery of our leader and the ideology and state that has so greatly inspired us.

Sieg Heil, Heil Hitler!
-Best Wishes and Regards,
Albion Bulldog, Editor

Thanks & Fuck Off's!

Fuck off: to the usual subjects, you know who you are. All slanderers, fork tongued liars, informants, snitches, rats, shit-talkers, internet warriors, people who have threatened our members for no other reason then supporting the real B&H. Also, all muds, jews, devil worshipers, Satanists, occultists, homosexuals, the IRA/Sinn Fein & supporters of the filth, INLA, ANC, Nelson Mendela, Ceasar Chavez, Castro & Raul, reds, leftists, anarchists and Moslem scum! We will be laughing our asses off when your all burning in Hell! FUCK YOU!

MOVEMENT UPDATES:

Troops of Tomorrow: We have become increasingly active within the past year. We are attending as many VF/B&H events as possible, and can be expected to make a show of force at the Althing. Thanks to VF/PA we now have some beautiful new banners for our organization. Our organization is once more heavily international, with divisions opening in Argentina and Nederlands. We have also regained contact with two original T.O.T divisions in Chile and Mejico. Both are remaining extremely active, particularly Chile, who has had marches, puts up flyers protesting the Dresden bombing, has a band with a demo out, a strong woman's division, etc.. We have re-launched our website, which can be reached at www.tot88.com, and which also contains a forum. An event celebrating Der Fuhrer's birthday will be held in mid-April, complete with speeches, a bonfire, flags and banners, a knife throwing contest and strong man contest, raffle, and so forth. Later last year, we held our first event, a Fourth of July BBQ & Gathering. While marred with some technical problems, it still showed that we as an organization have the manpower and dedication to hold an event. We are also in the early stages of planning a small store to set up at meetings, gatherings and events to earn a bit of income for our organization. Congratulations also go out to our founder, who has announced his goal to bench 500 within the year. Good luck komerade! Plans to start a band are also in the mix, although details cannot be released at this time.

Volksfront International has been very busy as of late, holding various gatherings, meetings, concerts, you name it. Their first annual Althing on their new land in the Samuel Weaver memorial hall was a great success. A second is in the works, and looks to be very exciting. They have also formed an Official Supporters Club, for those who wish to support the VF but not become members. Various events they are putting on this year include Patriot Action up in Boston, the aforementioned Althing, United 'Till Victory in St. Louis at the Samuel Weaver memorial hall, a Eastern Division Invitational, and probably a whole hell of a lot more that we don't even know about. They also recently released a new issue of The Folk Tribune.

Daughters Of Yahweh: See interview within this issue for D.O.Y activity. Website will be back up as well, they have a great selection of literature available.

Confederate Hammerskins: Are holding a St. Paddy's day festival down in FL! From what T.O.T members have said who attended and provided security last festival; this is bound to be a great one!

White Revolution: The articulate Mr. Roper and company are still very active, having recently started a supporter program with different levels of membership. Their forum is now back up, after several attempts by the red front to silence them. They are making a presence at many B&H events (for instance, Mr. Roper is speaking at the Patriot Action 09 event), as well as having many meetings, luncheons and gatherings of their own. Mr. Roper has recently become engaged to a beautiful Skinbyrd! We give our heartfelt congratulations to them both and wish them the best of luck.

To the American Front (particularly the AF Florida crew)
I would personally like to thank the AF Florida Crew for one of the greatest experiences of my life. For me they were the biggest influence in my racial awakening & I will always have the utmost respect for them. The AF Fla Crew are with out a shadow of a doubt some of the most intelligent, solid racialists we have ever had the pleasure of meeting & getting to know. We would be nothing less then honoured to stand by their side once again in this struggle.

Thanks to Dave Lynch for his overall support and encouragement!
W&J

Tightrope Records: Dedicated skinhead activist Byron has really been working non-stop lately it seems, releasing dozens upon dozens of new shirt designs, sticker designs, etc., but most importantly has released Project Schoolyard II. For 30 cents each, an activist can buy a professionally pressed CD in a nice looking, glossy cardboard sleeve. Lots of classic RAC, Hatecore and NS metal is on this, including Aggravated Assault, The People Haters, Johnny Rebel, Centurion, Skrewdriver, RAHOWA, and more. Byron released this totally out of pocket, and designed everything himself. We salute you and your valiant efforts komerade, you truly are a soldier of the White Aryan race.

GetSome88: Recently had a Nor Cal show, a "Cultivate the H8 in 08" show, and is helping sponsor the VF/B&H event "Patriot Action 09"! This California outfit is really putting their noses to the grindstone as far as activism goes. Keep up the good work boys!

Final Conflict/Political Soldier/International Third Position: Maintains a very informative blog at the following address:

http://finalconflictblog.blogspot.com/

Confederate 28: Is holding many BBQs, gatherings and Bible studies in the Florida area. Best of luck to them and the Christian Guard Ministry/Adamic Brethren for spreading the gospel of Positive Christianity and White Power!

Other News: 2 British soldiers were recently murdered by the Real IRA… 300 pound car bomb was abandoned outside of a military base in Ulster, also highly suspected of being from a dissident IRA faction or the INLA… police officer in Northern Ireland murdered by Continuity IRA…Loyalist paramilitary groups UDA and UVF have become inactive, but their memberships still refuse to decommission arms, suggesting that they may become active again if provoked to do so, 6,000-10,000 National Socialists and supporters marched on Dresden to protest the mass murder of their people during WW2 due to allied bombing…2 retards in the US planned to go on a shooting spree wearing white top hats and tuxedos and were promptly arrested, we'd laugh if it wasn't so sad…Canadian hate laws becoming more and more draconian, a person can face heavy fines and jail time for simply posting politically correct opinions on the internet…the Russian army went into Georgia last year and kicked some serious Moslem ass…Jews going bonkers in the Gaza strip area, slaughtering Palestinians by the hundreds due to Palestinian radicals launching rockets into Israeli cities…British Nationalist organization The National Front remains very active, holding a successful Remembrance Day march in 2008, as well as having the best election results ever in may of 2008...the Tom Cruise film "Valkyrie" about the Third Reich seemed to completely bomb, good riddance to bad rubbish we say…the increasingly left wing BNP has largely fallen into disgrace with the British nationalist movement as of late, when a video of them selling literature featuring race traitor Churchill, as well as members dancing around with blacks in the streets, was put up by their Wales chapter--what the hell were these guys thinking?…REM singer got punched up by Russian NS & Nationalists during a Moscow faggot pride parade…American sales of ammunition, firearms and related accessories have gone way up due to the Obongo election…Russia becoming increasingly radical and unfriendly towards foreigners…T.O.Tenkopf editor proclaims Aggravated Assault to be best WP band ever.

If you have news you'd like to see in the next issue, whether world news or news from your organization, just let us know! 88/14

DAUGHTERS OF YAHWEH INTERVIEW

Daughters of Yahweh is a fairly new organization that is active in the Blood and Honor movement. We were lucky enough to be given an interview with the organizations founders. Enjoy!

Q) First off, thanks a lot for agreeing to do this interview. If you could, start by giving us some info on the conception of D.O.Y.. When and why was it formed?

A) DOY was formed in the summer of 2007. It was formed simply because there was really nothing like it out there for women. I, personally, do not believe women should belong to groups made up of men. Sometimes it can work, but often does not. I think we are better suited working with other women. However there wasn't a group like that out there for women of the Christian faith. So we decided to make one.

Q) The basic ideology behind D.O.Y seems to be Christian Identity. I realize that there is a fair amount to it, but for the readers who know next to nothing about it, would you be so kind as to explain it? Would you say that your groups beliefs differ any from traditional CI doctrine?

A) We believe in dual-seedline Christianity - that the White race are the sons of God (through Adam) and the Jewish race are the sons of Satan. There has been, and will be, eternal warfare between the two until Christ's return. We believe Christ was God in the flesh, put upon this earth as our Redeemer and granter of life everlasting. There ARE different types of CI out there, but I think what we believe is basically the crux of traditional CI doctrine.

Q) What historical and/or political figures would you say have an influence on D.O.Y., hold an importance within its ideology/message, etc.?

A) My personal influences, as far as how I conduct myself as a Christian would be : Christ(obviously), Ruth, Tamar, John the Baptist, St. Paul, Richard Kelly Hoskins, Vicky Weaver, and Bertrand Comparet.

Q) What sort of activism does D.O.Y. engage in? Would you describe it as more of a woman's support group, or a "on the street" organization, or somewhere in-between? Is it a skinhead group?

A) No, we are not a skinhead organization. Also, we are definitely not "on the street". Our purpose is simply to educate other women about God and work together to serve His will. We do a lot of work with prisoners - writing them, sending them literature, publishing THEIR writings, etc. We also over-saw the children's activities at the VF National Althing last year. We believe in traditional gender roles, so we try to honor those within our group.

Q) What in D.O.Y.'s opinion is a woman's place within the movement?

A) Well, I sort of touched on this before, but I prefer to see women working with other women. Men and women are so different - they are naturally suited for different things, different roles. Men are the warriors and women are the nurturers. But that does not diminish, in any way, a woman's contribution to the cause (p.s. I do not belong the WP "movement" at large). I think alot of women get overlooked because their most valuable contribution (raising their children) is not even seen.

Q) When I met the Daughters of Yahweh in person, I noticed you had on some Fascist regalia. Would you consider yourselves Fascists, or at least admirers of Mussolini I'm guessing?

A) Well, that was probably MK you are referring to, so you would have to ask her about that. But I, while I admire Mussolini greatly, do not consider myself to a fascist. I would classify myself as a Third Position/Nationalist Revolutionary.

Q) A lot of women (and men, for that matter) in today's mainstream society, and even in the movement itself, seem to lack any sort of ethical or moral code. What do you feel about this? Would you say that one of your goals is to instill this more into the White women specifically, and the White race in general? Also, would you say that the current movement's lack of morality has been the cause of its general stagnation?

A) Wow, you touched on a good point here! I actually just officially resigned from "the movement" for those exact reasons (you can find my statement on hooligansite.com under the title "Standards"). The WP movement has become nothing more than a party "scene" in my opinion. There is a total lack or morals - promiscuity and infidelity are rampant. We have become no better than those we oppose.

I believe in leading by example. D.O.Y. stands for the family unit. I would like to see more women coming around who truly value their role as a wife and mother, and are not just interested in partying and "hooking up". I would hope to see more women following Biblical codes of conduct, such as: modesty, repsect, obedience, self-discipline, etc.

Q) When was your racial awakening, and did it coincide with your spiritual awakening as a CI Christian?

A) My racial awakening would be kind of hard to pin-point, because it was a very gradual process. It all started when I moved from NE to FL when I was 14. I had never been around so many non-whites and I immediately knew I did not want to interact with them. Then there was my senior year when my best friend began dating a White Power skinhead and I was exposed to a whole new way of thinking. It was still a few more years after that before I actually became actively involved in the Cause. So, it wasn't ever like a light bulb went off - just a slow progression towards truth.

As for my spiritual awakening, that came later. I was raised Catholic which actually turned me into an Atheist at the age of 13. I was a firm non-beleiver for about 10 years. And when I first got involved w/ the Cause I was actually pretty ignorant and disrespectful of racial Christians. But then I somehow ended up dating a CI skinhead. And between his love and the very powerful witnessing of a friend of his, I came back to Christ. It really is true - you are called when you are called. I certainly did not see it coming.

Q) Miss A., I understand you were recently blessed with a child. How is he doing as of late, and I am guessing you are quite excited?

A) Thank you! Yes, Randy and I had our first child last May. He is 9 months old now and is the greatest joy of our lives. He looks exactly like his Dad, but sometimes acts like me - a bit overdramatic, haha. He is close to walking - so watch out! We are definitely very blessed and plan to start trying for another one in a few months.

Q) On a lighter note, what would you say are your favorite WP bands, or bands in general?

A) Some of my favorite WP bands are : Blood Red Eagle, H8Machine, Fortress, Skrewdriver, Brutal Attack, Blackout, Legion of St. George, Blood in the Face, and Day of the Sword/Break the Sword.

However, I also LOVE Psychobilly/Rockabilly and listen to bands like :

Nekromantix, Tiger Army, HorrorPops, Demented Are Go, Koffin Kats, etc. etc. Yup typical girl. :)

Q) What books have you been reading lately? Also, what books would you recommend to the readers?

The book I am reading right now is Norman Mailer's "Executioner's Song". It has absolutely nothing to do w/ WN, or anything like that. I just really enjoy true crime.

The one book I always recommend is "Vigilantes of Christendom" by Richard Kelly Hoskins. It is my favorite book of all time and shows many great examples of what TRUE Christians are. I think believers and non-believers alike would enjoy this book, as well as his others.

Obviously to anyone interested in CI, I would recommend the Bible. I also really like the works of Bertrand Comparet. He has an excellent style of writing that makes learning fun.

Really, there are too many to list. But those would be "musts" for me.

Q) What do you think of the current efforts of the Godless, Marxist left to strip America of its last few vestiges of Christian heritage, such as during Christmas season (I.e. “Holiday Trees”, saying “Happy Holidays” etc.) ?

A) Obviously I think it's a joke. And it's those, and many other reasons, why I choose to home-school my child - so he will never be ashamed of his WHITE faith, or his WHITE culture.

But all this is indicative of how far our nation has fallen from God. We warned of the punishments we would face for our apostasy - see Deuteronomy 28.

Q) I admit to not being the most knowledgeable on the subject of Christianity, although I have studied the Bible before. One thing that I have never gotten is how mainstream churches, and the media in general paint Jesus as some sort of hippy. In reality from what I’ve read, God can be quite vengeful and can be angered, much like a person can. Your thoughts on this?

A) Jesus was certainly no hippy. Remember, Jesus was merely God in the flesh. And He is a God of Love AND a God of War. Mathew 10:34 - "Think not that I am come to send peace on earth: I came not to send peace, but a sword." And there are many more examples like that. We call mainstream Christians "Judeo Christians" - and with good reason. The true teachings have been corrupted by - guess who? They have just as much a hold on the churches as they do the state. And it serves their purpose to have Jesus seem like a passive hippy who loved everyone. But that couldn't be farther from the truth. Judeos have a habit of only reading the passages their pastor tells them too - always out of context and always under his/her guidance as to what said passage means. If anyone ever just sat down by themselves w/ a Bible and a Concordance (Biblical dictionary that gives original translations) they would get a much different picture.

15. Again on a lighter note, I understand you are both big fans of horror films. What are some of your favorites, could you give us a top 10? What do you think of all the many recent remakes of classic horror films?

Oh, I don't know about a top 10. MK would be better at that - she's seen way more than me and better remembers them. Honestly, most remakes are awful these days. But my whole thing w/ horror films is I like watching the awful ones too. I am just a nerd - I'll take the good with the bad. But here's a few of my faves:
The original Dawn of the Dead series, The first Texas Chainsaw, The Exorcist, The Ring, and Fido (ok that one is not a horror movie per se, but it IS a Zombie movie. haha)

This is an important issue that I feel should be addressed - what directly constitutes a person being declared a Political Prisoner or POW? I've run across way too many girls out there supporting some dude in prison who was on a drug or random assault charge, claiming their man was some kind of hero because they are WP and in jail (or found WP IN jail). Your thoughts on this?

Oh my gosh, THANK YOU! Yea any dude who's in prison and says "White Power" is apparently a POW these days. There's actually a pretty good definition of what constitutes each, but I can't seem to find it. So I'll just say how I feel in my own words.

A POW is someone who was actively fighting for our race. I don't think really anyone other than the Order fits that bill these days. And, to be honest, I don't want to see anymore POWs. I think we've all come to understand their method is not the best method for us, here at this time. Please don't misunderstand, I love and respect the Bruders with all my heart - but that was a different time, and we are trying to keep our men OUT of prison now.

A PP is someone who's act might not have been an outright declaration of their beliefs, but their incarceration for it was a result of those beliefs. Does that make sense? For instance - a person tries to prevent a black man from raping two white girls, a fight ensues, the white man is the victor, he gets arrested for a hate crime because of his racial beliefs. That would be a Political Prisoner to me.

But let's be clear - just because you are WP and in prison - that does not make you a POW or PP. To me, if you just walk up to a black person and stab them for no other reason than the color of their skin - you are a moron and I would never call you a POW/PP. Our people need to be smarter, stay away from criminal activity when at all possible, and work towards a better way of life. And please stop disrespecting real POWs/PPs by claiming that title.

That being said, just because someone is not a POW/PP does not mean they are not deserving of your time and/or support. We all make mistakes. And I am willing to write anyone who holds the same beliefs and standards as I do, especially if they are interested in learning more about my faith. But this classification is important.

Q) Fairly recently an article was published proclaiming that all Christians in the White Racialist movement, as well as all friends of Christians/those who tolerate Christianity in their orgs, where race traitors and "not of the folk". To me this sounds like a load of shit, your thoughts?

A) Wow, you are really touching all the "hot-button" issues, aren't you? Honestly, I don't even know where to begin with this one. It goes back to what I said earlier about having to educate people as to the history of our faith. This article was written on the tired, and not-true, belief that Jesus was a jew. I do not have time to go into this at depth, but if anyone wants to learn more, please e-mail me (DaughtersofYahwehNW@yahoo.com). But in a nutshell the word "jew" was never even used in the Bible until only a couple of years ago. A more accurate translation would be "Judean", which would be the same as saying "Floridian". It was a geographical description - nothing more. I think we can all agree there are white Floridians, and non-white Floridians. Furthermore, most WNs will argue stridently that the original Egyptians were white - why is this not the same of the original Israelites (of which Jesus was one)? Has anyone looked at a map? Those countries are right next to each other!

Those behind this article are nothing but bitter, ignorant Pagans who are pissed off because no one likes them. Let me be clear, I have nothing against Pagans in general. I married one. :) But they need to be respectful of our beliefs, just as we are of theirs. I never knock another's belief system unless I feel I am educated enough on the subject to back my assertions up. I cannot say the same of these authors. They speak nothing but gibberish and outright falsehoods.

Q) Most people with a brain accept that Christianity and Asatru alike are folkish faiths. If you want to call some of the hardest working, most noble activists in the world today "race traitors" because you can't be bothered to educate yourself - well sucks for you. But we're doing just fine on our own, thank you.

Well, that is all I can think to ask for now comrades. I thank you again for this interview. Best of luck and best wishes from the T.O.T.. Hope to see you within our pages again sometime. If you have anything else to say, or would like to give some contact info, please feel free. 88! Sieg Heil!

A) Thank you to our friends with T.O.T. and you especially, B, for this interview. You asked some great questions, and I hope people will find my answers both informative and entertaining. Once again my contact e-mail is DaughtersofYahwehNW@yahoo.com Thanks to everyone who took the time to read this interview. Hail YHVH!

Flags of Resistance II

As said in the previous issue, each issue we'll be covering various flags that the White race has fought under and for. This issue we are going to take it to a bit more specified area then last time, and basically focus on the flags and banners of the Apartheid states of Rhodesia and South Africa, before they were overcome by Judeo-Capitalist backed nigger Marxist terrorists.

Rhodesia flag 1968-1979

A striking white & green flag that flew over the now destroyed White country of Rhodesia (now known as "Zimbabwe", and run into the ground by nigger Marxist and murderer Robert Mugabe). Somewhat hard to find nowadays, although some websites still do sell it (www.patriotic-flags.com, as well as various pro-Rhodesian sites). Some skins and nationalists in Great Britain fly it as it was founded by an Anglo-Saxon Briton. American NS & WP rarely fly it, although they should, if nothing else in memoriam for the thousands of displaced and murdered Whites.

In order to explain the flag better, we are going to quote the official government statement on it:

"The flag of Rhodesia consists of three vertical panels, green, white and green. Superimposed centrally on the white panel is the Coat of Arms of Rhodesia. Green is the predominant colour of the Coat of Arms. It is a bold colour and has the advantage of comparative lightfastness in Rhodesia's sunny climate.

The Arms were granted by Royal Warrant of King George V in August, 1924. The gold pick symbolises the importance of the gold mining industry and, in particular (at the time of its adoption), the mining of gold. The pick is set on a green field, representing the agricultural background of the country. The bird which surmounts the Arms is a representation of the soapstone bird at the Great Zimbabwe Ruins, and serves as a reminder of the country's past, including its prehistory. The lion and thistles are from the Arms of Cecil John Rhodes, the Founder, to whom allusion is also made in the motto: Sit Nomine Digna - "May she (Rhodesia) be worthy of the name".

For histories sake, we are also going to include a folk song based on this flag, taken from a flag history website:

Originally recorded in 1970 by John Edmonds
"Daddy's Gone to Fight for the Green and White"

Her Daddy went to fight for the Green and White
She won't forget that day ...
They were all at the Old Drill Hall
As the convoy pulled away.

Her Daddy went to fight for the Green and White
It was hard to say good-bye
Tall and lean in his jungle green
She heard her mother cry

Green and White you're flying in the blue Rhodesian sky
Green and White you know that we all love you 'till we die.

Her Daddy went to fight for the Green and White
And his first letter went
"Thanks for the chocs and the glory box
And the kisses that you sent".

Her Daddy went to fight for the Green and White
He said I miss you all each day
Tall and lean in his jungle green
Heard her mother say

Green and White you're flying in the blue Rhodesian sky
Green and White you know that we all love you 'till we die.

Her Daddy went to fight for the Green and White
But now they're not alone
They were all at the Old Drill Hall
As the Company came home.

Her Daddy went to fight for the Green and White
'Cos their country means everything
Tall and lean in his jungle green
She heard her mother sing

Green and White you're flying in the blue Rhodesian sky
Green and White you know that we all love you 'till we die.

Green and White you're flying in the blue Rhodesian sky
Green and White you know that we all love you 'till we die.

South Africa flag (1928-1994)

Known as the oranje-blanje-blou (Orange, White, Blue), this flag flew over the once-proud White run nation of South Africa, which at one point, along with Rhodesia, was one of the most prosperous nations in Africa, and even all the world. That is, until a communist nigger by the name of Nelson Mendela (along with Hollywood and a jew-backed movement to cut off trade with South Africa) took it over and turned it into the fourth-world, disease and crime ridden slum that it is today.

The colors of this flag were based on the idea that a man named Jan Van Riebeeck had raised a orange, white and blue flag when he arrived at Cape in April 1652. In order to compromise with English-speaking South Africans of British descent, the Union Jack was added to the flag, but on the same level with the other flags contained within the flag, to show that all peoples of White ethnicities within the state were equal. A flag modeled after the aforementioned one that Riebeeck hoisted, called the Orange Free State Flag was added to the middle, and the flag of the Transvaal Vierkleur, a banner used by Boer rebels in the Anglo-Boer war of 1899-1902. Thus we have 2 flags sitting side by side within the oranje-blanje-blou, representing peoples who once fought, but were now united under one banner! Thus in a sense, the true flag of South Africa could be seen as a flag of White Unity, as well as a flag of White Supremacy and Achievement.

The Meaning Behind The Swastika Flag - The Banner We Love

While often used, its meaning is all too often not understood by the current movement, due to a lack of self education. Much like the 50 stars in the US flag represent states and the 13 red stripes the colonies, the colors and symbol on the flag all have distinct meanings.

Designed by Hitler, the flag was partially inspired by the original colors of Imperial Germany, which was black, white and red tricolor. It should be noted that this tricolor was even used for several years as the official flag of Germany alongside the Swastika flag. Hitler wanted this (the colors for the swastika, as well as the use of the flag) as it represented "homage to the glorious past and which once brought so much honour to the German Nation."

This flag with a red background, white disc and black swastika has had several different definitions put forth by its original users. One definition says that the red and black colors represent 2 inherent principles of the NSDAP's ideology: that of Blood and Soil. Another suggests that each color has a specific meaning: the black swastika symbolizing the White (Aryan) Race as well as the Aryan Nationalist goals of the NSDAP, the white disc representing the purity of the White Race, and the red symbolizing the blood of the White Aryan people, as well as the socialist goals of the NS movement.

Several quotes by Der Fuhrer himself help further elaborate on both the construction and meaning of said flag:

"I myself, meanwhile, after innumerable attempts, had laid down a final form; a flag with a red background, a white disk, and a black swastika in the middle. After long trials I also found a definite proportion between the size of the flag and the size of the white disk, as well as the shape and thickness of the swastika."

"As National Socialists, we see our program in our flag. In red, we see the social idea of the movement; in white, the nationalistic idea; in the swastika, the mission of the struggle for the victory of the Aryan man, and, by the same token, the victory of the idea of creative work."

- Mein Kampf

Thus the NS flag has multiple meanings, and today, it has gained one more--that of modern National Socialists paying homage to the original National Socialists. It is not simply a banner of White Power (while it is), but a flag representing our White Aryan race in its entirety, as it is one of, if not the oldest symbol of our race. It also represents our opposition to the Jewish/Communist/Capitalist power structure, as well as the Islamic and mud hordes. May it fly again across all White nations again one day in memoriam for those who fought and died for it and all that it represents!

Hail the Swastika!

"Adolf Hitler: A Man We Won't Abandon, Nor Forget"

As the White Power movement stumbles along, becoming more and more stagnated, an increasing trend has been to cast aside all of the heroes of our race for fear that it might alienate some magically huge number of Whites. These whites are supposedly ready and waiting on the sidelines to join our cause, if only we would become less radical and more palatable to the mainstream.

Then unfortunately a thunderbolt of reality comes crashing into this whole skewed way of thinking: Whites will continue to allow themselves to be led around by the nose right up until the very fabric of society becomes shredded and the infrastructure gives out. Until that time, all of the good guy posturing, watering down of the rhetoric and throwing out of the symbols and heroes of our race by the ton will not change the situation one iota. Even if it would, it just simply would not be right to abandon those who came before us, and there have been many. Mussolini. Franco. Rockwell. ISD. Above all however, and without whom there may not have even been a movement today, is Der Fuhrer, Adolf Hitler.

This has been said elsewhere by the T.O.T and its associates, but it bears repeating: we do not see Der Fuhrer as the megalomaniac, warmongering sociopath that the left wishes to portray him as. We see him rather as an individual who was made up of kindness, love, courage, hope, strength and honor--all principles that we hold true in our hearts, and can only hope to emulate.

Hitler avoided the lavish and decadent life styles of many so-called leaders of the time (and past and present for that matter), shunning things such as alcohol, womanizing, smoking, drugs, and even going so far as to have a vegetarian lifestyle. This was partly out of concern for his own health, but could also possibly be interpreted as his way of totally dedicating himself to his people and his cause, avoiding all vices that might distract him.

Despite his constant portrayal as evil personified, Hitler had a great love for animals and children, as shown by many photos from the Third Reich era. Pictures of him accepting wreathes from young admirers, time being spent playing with his dog Blondie, or feeding a doe are enough to move the heart of even the toughest skinhead. The jews and their media lackeys would love us to believe that Hitler in fact spent his time eating children and torturing animals, but due to this just not being the case, they simply black out this whole area of his life in exchange for ramblings about a supposed "holocaust" which we are not even sure actually occurred.

His love for Eva Braun was also pure and just. There were no signs of him ever having abused her or cheated on her. Probably the biggest caveat that Braun ever vocalized during their relationship was that she did not see enough of the Fuhrer, and wanted him to be a bigger part of her life. There was also the strain of having to keep the relationship a relative secret to all but the Fuhrer's trusted inner cadre. While no doubt it was a cross to bear for Eva, it was again all due to the Fuhrer's love for his people that caused his personal life to suffer to an extent. He was not only a man but in a sense a symbol, and had to be married to race and state, as opposed to a woman, thus there would be no appearance of divided loyalties, no matter how slight. Just yet another sacrifice that he made out of the pure love and conviction that he felt for National Socialism and the European people.

These are just a few reasons why we, the Organized Resistance, Troops of Tomorrow, refuse to turn our backs on this man simply because it is not considered acceptable by the populace at large at this time. Turning your back on the truth (and Hitler IS truth, in it's purest form, as he was the ultimate fighter for our race) is still turning your back on the truth. So for now, we struggle against seemingly insurmountable odds, and with a society and culture at large that simply refuses to see the light of truth that this great man represents. We can handle that. This "movement" that seems to be increasingly plagued with reactionaries who have knee-jerk reactions to even an image or mention of the Fuhrer, or those who use his image for shock value, we shrug off. We will maintain our identity, our ideology, and our heroes. Make no mistake, Adolf Hitler ranks highest among them all.

ONE DAY THE WHOLE WORLD WILL KNOW THAT ADOLF HITLER WAS RIGHT, AND HAIL HIS NAME! HEIL HITLER FOREVER!

Troops of Tomorrow, its Allies and Supporters give memorial statements on the Great One…

"The Founders of Troops of Tomorrow would like to wish a Happy Birthday & peaceful rest to Adolf Hitler, one of the most inspirational men of our time and race. Your memory will always live in the hearts of all those you have awoken and touched, as well as within our organization. We will always proudly display our love for Nazi Germany and the struggle within. We will never forget the path that the true heroes have walked and we can only strive to be as devoted and selfless to the people of our race as those before us. Our hearts burn with an everlasting fire and passion to make a better tomorrow for our folk and children."

Sieg Heil Mein Fuhrer!
W&J/TOT Founders

"As April 20th nears again, we all remember the first Fuhrer and his noble vision for our race's future. Those of us on both sides of the Atlantic who are still dedicated to the cause he helped define remain, as National Socialists, true to the struggle he began. Some day his dream will become a reality for our folk around the world, and his memory can be honored forever in the manner which it deserves. Until then, we continue to fight. Hail Victory!" -Billy Roper, White Revolution Chairman

"It is with sadness that I think of the coming 20th. Adolf Hitler was a man who had to leave this world too early, that dark day in 1945 in a Berlin bunker. Some wrongly say he fought only for the German people, but in reality, he was fighting for the freedom of all White mankind. Der Fuhrer was probably the greatest man to have walked the earth, a kind man, a benevolent leader, a lover of animals, a talented painter, and a good friend to those he loved. When I think of him, I do not see a man of hatred or of genocide, as false historians have attempted to portray him as, but rather as a man of love and of benevolence, who only wanted to make the world a better place for the White people. Without him, there would be no Skrewdriver, no skinheads, no White Power movement. Without him, none of us would be here today. For that, I thank you Adolf Hitler, and promise along with every other National Socialist, worldwide, to continue your fight. Heil Hitler!"

-Albion Bulldog, T.O.Tenkopf Editor, Troops of Tomorrow

"I don't think you can truly be a Nationalist without having respect for Adolf Hitler. He was, probably one of the if not the biggest Nationalist figurehead ever on the face of this planet. His ideology is the spearhead for TOT, and for many other organizations worldwide. And I know, as long as I draw breath, his dreams will be my fighting hope for the future of the white nation, worldwide."

-Witch Hunter, T.O.T NC

"Uncle Adolf Mit Uns"

- Rachel Rahowa, California

"120 years ago, within a humble family, Adolf Hitler was born. Since young, as his friend Kubizek tells us, he always wanted to have a simple, yet romantic life: become an artist, meet Stefanie…

That same romanticism was what, during a Wagnerian evening, made him discover his destiny; a destiny which would take him to not only make history, but change the world. From that moment forward, his ambitions for himself were none; every breath was for his nation, his kin, and his race. He sacrificed his art, even his wish to have a family. Thousands, millions were inspired by his ideal, and sacrificed their very last drop of blood so that future generations could have a worthy life; a life where we would be able to develop the unique potential flowing through our veins, free of alien influences.

The oldest person to ever live died at 122. More than followers, we must consider ourselves to be inheritors of that destiny. It is for us to make sure that the sacrifice of millions was not in vain.

Adolf Hitler was born 120 years ago. He was born to create a new world. We are the ones to make it grand.

We must not let the Hero become a myth.
We must make of the Hero, a Legend."

Heil Hitler!
Sieg Heil!

Drakkar, T.O.T Mejico Division

"Hitler was a paramount leader who, at the height of the Reich, returned his country to strength and prosperity. May the white race see another such leader follow in Hitler's footsteps who will return our countries to everlasting power. Seig Heil!"

Entertainment & Reviews…

Beer Review: Molson Golden

I, like many a Nazi Skinhead, have been known to drink a beer or two. Or, more realistically, 10-12 at a time, hahaha. That said, I like to try many different beers and mix up the intake, just to keep things interesting. One day at the local habeeb-owned liquor store, I couldn't help but notice Molson Golden. Staring out at me from the near-freezing temperatures of the beer cooler, it seemed to beacon to me with its gold colored box, adorned with a large Canadian maple leaf. To me, it said "let me refresh you ,with my icy cold Canadian-ness." Not being one to argue, I promptly listened to the boxes' call and removed it from the cooler, gave the sand nigger at the counter 12 dollars, and proceeded to head home to try it out. Each individual beer was adorned with the aforementioned gold label/maple leaf motif….but what was inside? I promptly cracked open a bottle once I was home and took a taste. While not the greatest beer I have ever had in my life, I still have to say it was worth the 12 dollars I spent on the 12 pack of long necks. Its pretty refreshing, with a good taste to it, not overly strong or bitter, but at the same time not having the watery or foamy taste of many North American beers. It seems to want you to know its not from the US of A, with "IMPORTED" proudly stamped upon its bottle neck. That doesn't count for a whole lot when you consider its from a country that many of us could drive to without much difficultly. I digress however, and will say that if you are up for something different from the cold north, try a Molson golden. It probably won't replace the old American standbys of Yuengling or Killians, but is still a pretty decent beer. It also won't make you want to spew your guts out after drinking half a dozen or so, like Bud seems to like to do. (Also, I should probably note, the beer didn't actually talk to me, that was for dramatic effect.)

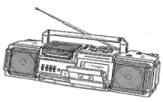
CD REVIEWS



Hanzel Und Gretyl- "2012: Zwanzig Zwolf"

I've been aware of these 2 for a while, it's a (I believe) American duo who are decked out in Germanic gear (and look very Germanic in general, even facial features). The guy wears a Kaiser-like helmet, the girl a leather dress with blood red hair, and both have knee high boots with white laces. Theres even a twin pair of Totenkopfs on the front cover of the cd. All that said, this is supposedly a parody, and meant to be tongue in cheek. With song titles like "Heil Hizzle Mein Nizzle" and "Fukken Uber Death Party", obviously there is a bit of the tongue-in-cheek going on here. That said, the endless sampling of Nazi slogans such as "Sieg Heil" in the background of some of the songs kind of makes you wonder if there might be at least a little sympathy for the good ol' Third Reich here. The music is done in a fairly fast paced, heavy industrial style, yet not so harsh as to be incoherent or painful to listen to. That said sometimes I only feel like listening to part of the album, as this sort of music isn't my main axe so to speak. Its enjoyable, I've just never been a huge fan of electronic-based music. Its still worth a listen and is definitely a fun album, regardless of the bands true politics or beliefs.

Hanzel Und Gretyl- "Ausgeflippt"

The first album from the duo known as Hanzel Und Gretyl. This one seems to deal more with time travel in comparison to their latest effort. It also seems a bit more guitar driven and somewhat less industrial. There is also more English language in this album, with the other one sung mostly in German/pseudo-German. I like this one a little more, as it has more guitar and shit in it, and I'm generally a guitar-based music kinda guy. Stand out track is a T.O.T favorite, "Third Reich From the Sun". Check this CD & band out if you get the chance.

Interview with Grinded Nig

FROM THE VAULT OF HATE: GRINDED NIG INTERVIEW FROM 4-5 FUCKIN' YEARS AGO!!!! YEAH, ITS OLD, WE KNOW THAT, BUT IT HAD A VERY LIMITED RELEASE, SO YOUR FORCED TO READ IT NOW. THIS IS FOR ENTERTAINMENT ONLY AND NOT TO BE TAKEN SERIOUSLY. IT HAS BEEN EDITED A BIT FOR CONTENT. TROOPS OF TOMORROW DOES NOT NECESSARILY SUPPORT WHATS IN THIS INTERVIEW. ITS VERY OFFENSIVE, IF YOU THINK YOU WOULD HAVE A PROBLEM WITH IT, YOU SHOULD PROB. SKIP OVER THIS ONE. OTHERWISE, READ ON. HEIL GRINDED NIG!
SIEG HEIL!

Q) Thanks for accepting to do this interview, its an honor to be interviewing a band such as yours. When one thinks off Grinded Nig, one thinks of pure offensiveness, such as gore encrusted chainsaws, noses and fingers bitten off, tool boxes loaded with implements of destruction, heads smashed against pavement, subhumans begging for mercy, Mississippi wind chimes, and so forth. Would you say you agree with this description? Grinded Nig members are quite well known for its sadistic acts of violence against anyone who gets in their way, do you have any stories of this?

A) Well I have to agree with your description of the band. We are some really fucked up individuals and we admit that. Motherfuckers begging for mercy sounds very accurate!! All that shit you mentioned has all happened. Haha I like to beat people with Mississippi Wind Chimes. I strangled some guy with a wind chime before. It was fun. Yesterday I kicked some motherfucker in the face so hard that I thought I broke my toe!!

Q) What do you think of the fucked Panzerfaust fiasco that went down a few months back? Your new album wasn't released due to all the problems. I understand that along with that album there are numerous other studio albums just waiting to be produced. Can you give us an idea of what some of these are all about? How does each album vary from the other, what lyrical themes does it encompass, etc., and just what sort of basic info can you give us on these?

A) Well I have no comment on the Panzerfaust situation, I know a few details but I really do not even care. It is just a motherfucking shame that such a successful label went down the shithole. Yeah it fucking figures, the month our full length was supposed to be released, the whole label turns to shit. Fuck, that GN CD was recorded almost 2 years ago!!! It has been frustrating waiting for the shit to be released. Basically the material is not even new anymore. Since then, we recorded some other songs for a split CD with Hungarian band Gungnir. That was about a fucking year ago. We have been waiting patiently for Gungnir to record their songs. Apparently they are having some sort of line-up problems. So we decided to say "fuck the split, lets do a full length". So the same label (BHS Services) who were going to release the split, will release a full length. It will have the songs from the proposed split CD, half the songs from the "Racial Mutilation" recordings and will also include the "Nazi Headbanger" EP. This will be a proper studio recorded release. We put out the "Freezer Full of Nigger Heads" CD on the Pure Hate Russian label. It is a good CD, but by no means should it be considered a full length. It is just a collection of demos with varying quality. So motherfuckers, you need to be on the look out for the new shit. It will be called "Shriek of the Mutilated". Like I said, there will be a few songs from the unreleased Panzerfaust recording…..tracks like "Tool Box Murders" (about a sicko who listens to hate rock then goes out and mutilates his victims with sharp instruments), "Torture & Humiliation" (about following queers home, breaking into their home and fucking them up in sick ways…influenced by movies such as "The Boys Next Door" and House at the Edge of the Park")….fuck I cannot remember the *other ones!! As for titles from the split recording…..we have "Shredded Nigger C*ck in Rotten White C*nt", "Niggermortis", Nigger Blood on the Knife", "Aryan Metal Fist" and some other fucked up shit. We are eagerly anticipating the release of this shit.*

Oh one other thing, we just released a 10" picture disc maxi Single. It is features us covering the Ramones song "Pet Sematary". It is a nice looking piece of vinyl. For all you fuckers who are too pussy to buy vinyl, fuck you!!!!

Q) I know this is a very predictable question but what is your opinion on one of the only other (or maybe even the ONLY other) racist grind core band out there, namely Vaginal Jesus? I realize that your band is different from this band, but was still wondering if any influence was drawn from this, or just if you liked them at all.

A) Oh yes we are fans of Vaginal Jesus…..haha Anal Cunt. Yeah that is some sick ass shit. I have been collecting Anal Cunt records since I was about 16, now I am an old piece of shit. As for influencing us, no I would not say that. We have always thought the idea of a WP grind band would be good. Speaking of VJ, I used to have the original vinyl and they got destroyed. Some idiot brought his dumb ass dog over to my place. That dog chewed those records all to pieces. I started beating that dog with a belt then I hit that guy in the face. So I beat him and his dog severely. I bit off his dog's ear!! It is a good thing that dog got away because I wanted to slice his fucking throat.

Q) Grinded Nig has the honor of being probably the best WP band from Texas (at least as far as we are concerned, Hahaha). What other NS bands would you say you like from your area and support? Are you comrades with the infamous NS Death Metal band Fueled By Hate band as well?

A) Haha the best WP band in Texas…..well that is outstanding if you feel that way. Yes we know Fueled By Hate. They are a great band. I had those motherfuckers play a show in my house one time. It was a good time until those bastards went outside and started throwing beer bottles through my neighbor's windows. I had to get them out of there before someone called the police. So we took them all up to some hillbilly bar by my house. We go into a huge fight with some white trash motherfuckers. Lots of people got fucked up. I got a blade stabbed into my back. Fuck I was bleeding all over the fucking place. We had to run out of there. Some fucker was shooting at us with a shotgun. He blew my back windshield out as we drove away.

Q) You guys played a show a while back with Fueled by Hate, White Wash, etc.. How satisfied where you with this show, and can we expect any shows in the future? What goes on in an average Grinded Nig show?

A) Yeah we had a great time playing with those bands. The only thing was I think the crowd did not know what the fuck to think when we walked out wearing masks haha. It was fucking comedy!!!! The best part was in the pit I saw a woman slamming around while carrying a baby haha now that is some shit. Yeah we want to play more shows. We used to play lots of regular metal shows, but it always turned into a huge fight. Motherfuckers getting stabbed and beaten. None of the clubs will let us play anymore.

Q) The state you live in is being overrun by Mestizos. What is Grinded Nigs opinion on this, and more importantly, do you have any stories of Grinded Nig dealing with this problem? We heard rumors of explosive burritos, as well as driving a van done up like a taco into a lake with hundreds of Mestizos following it, but realize this is probably just insane rumors…

A) Well that is problem with this region, lots of non English speaking fucks. Oh there have been lots of shit with those people. One time we walked up to a construction site and saw a bunch of spics eating lunch. Uncle Reage walked up to one and kicked him in the face. They started fighting and everyone circled around to watch. That spic was tough, they were both going back and forth knocking the shit out of each other. Finally Reage gouged his thumb into the spic's eye. He jammed it all the way in and the spic started screaming. With thumb in eye, Reage then started biting his face all up. Then all the other construction workers jumped and so did we. From there the battle raged. It was in a secluded spot so there was no one there to break the fight up. It went on for 10 minutes. People were getting beaten with tools!! It was pretty fun.

Q) Ok, on a more serious note, GN has drawn some criticism by various "upstanding suit & tie racialists" who claim that it doesn't put forth a very positive message, makes mainstream White America look at us in a bad light, etc., etc.. Meanwhile there seems to be a push for more and more 'mainstream' WP music, with no violence, Third Reich imagery, racial slurs, and so forth. What is your opinion on all this?

A) Well FUCK those motherfuckers. We are not trying represent anyone. If those fuckers do not like it then they should not be listening to it. There are plenty of intelligent WP bands out there for kids to listen to. We are not intelligent nor do we ever claim to be role models or any stupid shit like that. I have seen all kinds of shit on message boards of people talking shit. Well as far as I am concerned, any bitch that posts shit on a message board is a stupid ass motherfucker.

Q) You guys obviously like some decent films, as your songs appear to be inspired by such classics as Cannibal Holocaust, The Tool Box Murders (the '70's original, ov corpse), and so forth. Whats your opinion on the nazi soft core porn of Italy, as well as the classic Italian film, "Farewell Uncle Tom"?

Do you buy your films from anywhere in particular, and what is your top 10 recommended viewing list!? Also what is your opinion on such atrocity films as Traces of Death series?

A) Italian Nazi soft core porn is great haha. Yeah we like to watch all kind of fucked up movies. I was raised on shit like that. Fuck I can remember watching "Blood Sucking Freaks" when I was 10 years old. When that bitch eats that motherfucker's cock in a hotdog bun, that is classic!!!

As for a top 10 viewing list……ahh there are so many fucked up movies…..well I will name a few that come to mind…..well obviously Cannibal Holocaust, They Don't Cut the Grass Anymore, Long Island Cannibal Massacre, Cannibal Ferox, I spit on your Grave, Necrophagia, The Backdoor Dick Slicers, Fight for your Life (haha very comical, very racist film, hateful haha), Zombie, all Godzilla films (expect that shitty American version with that pussy Matthew Broderick)….oh shit there are many many more but I cannot think clearly right now.

Q) Grinded Nig wears hoods, ski masks, and cloaks in order to conceal their identity from the public. What is the reason behind this?

A) Bitch we will fuck you up for this question!!!!!!!!

Q) What bands does Grinded Nig listen to? Whats your influences, and of course, what is your opinion on extreme racial metal and NSBM? Do you guys listen to a lot of Gore Grind style music? Can you recommend some bands?

A) We listen to all kinds of shit..Death, Thrash, Power, Grindcore….you name it. Bands like Impetigo, Autopsy, Terroizer, Sodom, Asphyx, Overkill, Venom, Master, Motorhead, Distopia, Nuclear Death, Pungent Stench, Destruction, Hemdale, Ripping Corpse, Eyehategod, Metal Church, Exodus, Saxon, Abcess, Judas Priest, Cro-Mags, Grim Reaper, Discharge, Repulsion, Exhorder, Anthrax, Iron Maiden, WASP, Cianide, Blood and Sacred Reich. As for NSBM, yeah that is ok I like what they do but honestly I am more into death and grind than black metal. I mean sure I like old shit like Bathory, but lots of this stuff is too gothic with a bunch of folk shit in the music. I like pure raw heavy mutilated shit. That is why we prefer gore grind. As for recommendations for gore grind bands…..Impetigo is one of the classics, Whore, Waco Jesus, Fornicator, Blood Freak, Embalming Theater…..

Q) Many women today are into race-mixing, bisexuality, drug-use and so forth. Many NS people have described walking down a crowded street and seeing numerous race-mixed couples, mostly of the black male/white female variety, but also some ugly white guy with some ancient Chinese secret, hahaha. What is your thoughts on all this BS, and what songs does Grinded Nig have written about it, if any?

A) Oh yeah there is lots of shit like that. It is sickening, dumb ass white mother fuckers. People are fucking idiotic, they will buy into any shit that is on the television. Fucking Sick!!! I do not watch TV at ALL!!!! The only thing my TV is used for is watching sick movies on video. As for writing songs that cover that, two that come to mind are "Shredded Nigger Cock in Rotten White Ct" and "Toolbox Murders".

Speaking of race mixing…..one time after leaving a Brutal Truth show we walked down an alley and stumbled across some nigger eating a white girl's . We did not say anything, we just grabbed both of them and started beating them. We knocked out all the nigger's front teeth! That white bitch was crying. We slapped her around a little bit. Then we held her down and let some mangy dirty dog lick her . Stucky pulled down his pants and shit all over her face!! Ah the good old days.

Q) What does the average day entail for a Grinded Nig member?

A) I get up in the morning, kick some bitch out of bed then go eat rotten leftovers for breakfast. I walk around the streets looking for people to fuck up. Plus I bring a pen and paper to write lyrics about my adventures. As for work, I do a bunch of low life shit like digging ditches and cleaning shit covered restrooms. I cannot get anything else, I am an ignorant fucker, I dropped out of school when I was 12 years old.

Q) Well comrade, this is all I can think to ask. Please finish out with what we can expect from you guys in the future. Any merchandise information, contact, etc. is of course appreciated. This space is yours. 88/14!

A) Well we plan to continue writing and recording sick shit to offend people. It only gets worse at this point!! We want this shit to be completely over the top! As for contact info, fuck you, no one needs to be contacting us. There are a variety of distributors that carry our merchandise. Ok, well thank you very much for this interesting interview. I hope all is well with you.

EXPLORATIONS IN SKINEMA II: A REVIEW OF BEST OF THE BEST III: NO TURNING BACK

Last issue, we reviewed the wacky skinhead film “Skinheads: Second Coming of Hate” which was notable in that it had hardly anyone in it who looked like a skinhead. This time, we are going to sit back, dear reader, crack open a few cans of brew, and watch a film with a much larger budget that, sadly, manages to be as stupid as “Skinheads: Second Coming of Hate”

This film was entertaining in that it actually got a few things right here and there. Some of the guys wear red braces and red laces, there is a church modeled after the Church of Jesus Christ, Christian/Aryan Nations, etc.. The film doesn’t quite seem to know what it wanted to cover, so it seems to have both outright skinheads and Aryan Nations style guys in it, and some guys in between.

It opens up with a kindly negro preacher sending his son off to choir school or what have you. He is busy fighting the hate of a local White Pride group, as shown in a newspaper article we see before he promptly gets a potato sack shoved over his head and is dragged off. His church is then fire bombed and explodes, which I gotta say, was quite entertaining.

We then cut to a run down trailer, in which a young white lad with a rough home life decides to join a local group called the Aryan Homeland. We get to see his head shaved with a razor and then branded with a Celtic style cross. Then the negro civil rights preacher is dragged out and given some Louisville slugger treatment from the head of the Aryan Homeland.

Now enter the main protagonist, Tommy Lee, martial artist. He meets up with his sister, who is married to white cop, and has a mix breed kid with her. He of course learns of the negro preachers disappearance, and proceeds to engage the Aryan Homeland and Church of the Aryan Crusade at every turn.

The Aryan Homeland group is of course ridiculously huge, with massive numbers of muscular skinheads and racialists shouting White Power within a massive compound that would have cost 100,000's of thousands of dollars to build. They also are armed with gatling guns, rocket launchers, automatic assault rifles, etc. etc.. None of this stops our intrepid gook however, who at one point, during an altercation at a county fair, manages to defeat a number of muscular skins while wearing a clown suit, complete with rubber nose. So essentially, you'll learn in this film that a single martial artist can single handedly defeat hundreds of heavily armed men with his bare hands. One of the stupidest (aside from the clown-fight scene) was when 3 racists with bats attack Tommy Lee, and he manages to defeat them all without a scratch. Sure, try that in real life.

After the leader of the Aryan Homeland murders the leader of the Church of the Aryan Crusade and takes his position, he gives a speech that directly quotes Robert Matthews before ordering his troops to kill Tommy, which of course everyone is all defeated. You end up seeing the Aryan Homeland leader without his shirt on, and hes covered with demonic looking tattoos, for whatever reason. (I guess to show that while he preached God, he was really an evvvilll racist) By the end, the original kid who joined the Aryan Homeland ends up shooting the WP leader in his back.

All in all, it's a goofy ass film, filled with clichés and bad acting, and utterly unrealistic. Virtually everything explodes when hit with a bullet in this film as well, and the entire law enforcement in the town consists of one cop, go figure. You can also expect the usual martial arts crap in which the guy fights one person at a time, even though about 10 people are attacking him.

All in all, I'm going to have to give this one 3 1/2 out of 5 gook skulls, as its fairly entertaining in a "wow, look how insanely stupid this shit is" sort of way. It also has a high enough budget that, unlike Skinheads: Second Coming of Hate, so at least your not watching a bunch of people in the woods the whole time. Plus, it features a cool cross lighting!

"Frontline Fighter" By Witch Hunter

story is fictional, and not meant to instigate violence. If you do something after reading this, that's your own fuckin' fault.

Chapter 1.

The treachery of the citizen is legendary to the soldier.

The soldier's sacrifice and bloodshed is quickly forgotten when the enemy is no longer at the gate, the savagery and inhumanity of those who have never had to stand for anything has a way of poisoning their lawless society until the mask rots away.

Now the filth of degradation had become so septic and infected that the people themselves had cried out for law to come into the darkness. This was Sergeant Wilde's legacy, bringing instant judgments to the lawless. He was the instrument of god, leading the 16 beasts unleashed upon the city of sin.

Sergeant Wilde, full name James Buchanan Wilde, was an Army Recon Sniper. He served 4 years in Iraq. He signed up because he was proud of America, proud of what it stood for, and was damn proud to fight for his country. He recently returned to his small down in Tennessee, which from what he could recall was like any other rural town. A population of about 2,800, farming town which was under development to become much larger, multiple major software company was clearing land when he left to build a plant, offering thousands of jobs to the farmers and their families, also making the town into a bustling city.

Of course, with cities come more people, which bring in their filth; filth of drugs, crime, prostitution, all this that his hometown was a virgin to, the thought of these perverse horrors made his stomach turn.

Of course, all of this was hindsight. When he stepped foot of the bus that brought him to his home, it was like stepping into another foreign land. He was taken back, unsure if the bus had dropped him off in the wrong town, or city, rather. He also seemed to stick out like a sore thumb amongst the civilians, everyone around him dressed in the latest fashions, let it be overly-baggy jeans, and shirts about six sizes too big, or miniskirts so short the woman's ass would stick out, shirts small enough to only the nipples were covered, and him dressed in the AMPAT Digital Camouflage, desert boots, his rucksack thrown over his right shoulder.
This was indeed an alien land, he thought.

He finally went into a store, and attained directions from a slender cashier. She had long, blonde hair and striking green eyes, about the color of emeralds in the sunlight. She seemed familiar, taken back for a minute, until he realized, it was a girl from his high school, Allison Gales. He hadn't seen her for almost 6 years all together, between basic, training, and then his time served overseas. He spoke to her for awhile, catching up on told times and learning about what has been going on since he had left for the military. Apparently, from what Allison had told him, ever since the town had exploded, all the new jobs had not only caught the interest in the local farmers and laborers, but also the unemployed from major cities in the area, such as Knoxville, Nashville, Atlanta, and Charlotte.

But with this, brought crime with it; gangs and thugs had leaked into the city like a broken septic line into a river. Polluting this once small town with every crime that was on the books; the judge didn't even expect a small town to burst from 2,800 to 20,000 almost overnight, and more coming each day. He had to expand the books, writing new laws and codes just to keep thugs in jail. That's all that was in the local newspaper; stories of gang members, pedophiles, and rapists going into prison, getting out on bail the next day.

It sickened Sergeant Wilde; he wanted to vomit inside of his mouth.

As he allowed all of this to sink into his mind, process and analyze this, he was abruptly shoved aside, shouldered by a man who sneered at him, saying to him "Look the fuck out, GI Joe" and mumbling something under his breath about a "goddamn whitey." It took everything of Wilde to not reach into his belt and withdraw his Ka-Bar, and eviscerate this man where he stood. Allison seemed to have not lost her firecracker attitude that he remembered, as she unleashed almighty hell on this man, almost screaming at the top of her lungs about how he should have more respect for those who fight for this country and have more backbone than he and his family combined. When the man finally left with what he bought, Wilde told Allison that he would catch up with her later, after getting directions to his old house.

He finally made it there, via taxi. The taxi driver looked at him oddly, unloading his bags into the trunk of the old beat up Ford Crown Victoria. He pulled up to his old driveway; it all looked the same on the outskirts of the town. A small piece of Americana in the middle of the now corporate megaplex, filled with big box stores and companies ending with "tec" or "systems". He slowly walked up the driveway, his bag tossed over his shoulder. He placed the beret back onto his head, noticing his uncle's old pickup in the driveway; he thought they must have a party for him to come home inside. He chuckled, smiling to himself as he knocked on the front door. It took a minute, but his uncle answered; he could already tell something was wrong by the solemn look upon his face. Wilde didn't say a word; he waited for his uncle to say something.

"I'm sorry, but your family was murdered while you were away." he said quietly. Wilde dropped the back, staring at him like it was a joke.

"There was a burglary; your father went downstairs with his rifle. They shot him before he could pull the trigger…then they went upstairs and killed your mother. Your brother, too; he tried to grab the rifle, but he was too late."

It felt like a needle full of adrenaline went right into his chest. His blood began to boil as his brow furrowed.

"Did they find who did it..?"

"No, they never did. They found one, after he got shot robbing a grocery store. The other two are still unheard of. No pictures, no sketches, not even a trace of DNA on the scene; the gun they used came back stolen."

Wilde shook his head; the images of this crime ran through his mind. His mother, father, and 15 year old brother all killed by the filth that infected his home town. His family never did anything wrong since they moved here 40 years ago. Now, it was the oldest sons turn to make things right.

His time, to fix what has been wronged. He would take it upon himself to be the righteous hand of god. The hammer of justice will fall upon those who sin.

He thought this as went inside, dropping his bag, looking at the empty house, thinking about the weapons inside that bag he was carrying, a CheyTec .408, a Heckler and Koch .45, and a 7inch blade Ka-Bar combat knife.

NATIONAL SOCIALIST WHITE POWER WEB:

Note- To the best of our ability, we try to include websites that aren't run by profiteers, dishonest people, etc., but at the same time, we don't have the time to do background checks on every link listed. Not all material contained within these links necessarily agrees with the ideology of T.O.T, its members, or the editor of this publication, nor does inclusion of a link imply connection with the T.O.T.

www.politicalsoldier.net

One of the hugest stores on the web, run by England First/ITP/Final Conflict. Contains a massive amount of items, including but not limited to shirts, lighters, hoodies, greeting cards, Final Conflict magazine, badges, hats, books, etc. etc.. Impressively, they have over 300 badges (metal pins), nearly 200 books, nearly 500 different flags (some rare and exclusive Nationalist flags you can't get anywhere else), close to 90 patches, nearly 80 key rings, just to give you an idea of the mass number of items. Also has a lot of British-related items (even Union Jack rubber duckies!), skinhead music, home schooling stuff, etc.. Some items are available for wholesale, and there is a collectors items/rarities section as well. Service is also EXCELLENT. The only problem I really have with this shop is they are into the whole "Palestinian Solidarity" stuff, so you'll see some items related to that. Personally I take the stance of "Neither Islam Nor Israel", and dislike both sides. That's just me though, and it won't stop you from enjoying the site.

This web store can only be described as "wicked awesome"! J Containing literally a few thousand items, 80-90% of which seem to be exclusive to the store itself, this is one that simply cannot be beat. Despite being located in Spain, you needn't worry about super slow shipping--it'll get to you in a fairly reasonable time frame every time. Its nice only having to wait 10 days or so, as opposed to a month from other countries (especially Germany for some reason). Just to give you a brief rundown of the basic amount, there are 58 flags (many of which are awesome and can only be found at the website itself), 285 different types of rings and pendants, 165 patches, many of which are unique and you won't find anywhere else, and roughly 150+ different shirt designs for every available size (small through XL). It also has over 50 metal badges and 270+ WP buttons. Theres also tons of other stuff, literally anything you could think of: WP bandannas, tons of key rings, many different NS/WP stickers, lighters, bracelets, pens, even cigarette boxes with NS & WP designs you can put your smokes in! As this is a Spanish-based website, there are many items related to Franco, Jose Antonio and La Falange. Some shirts are in Spanish (but are still pretty easy to figure out, so even a non-Spanish speaking individual might end up buying 'em anyway!). Also includes some humorous looking WP underwear that I wouldn't be caught dead in. Hahaha. All in all, a HIGHLY recommended website.

A website based in (you guessed it!) Italy, featuring an enormous amount of Fascist, Mussolini, NS, Hitler and Skinhead-themed goodies. The amount of stuff here is unbelievable, and of every possible sort! For you smokers, there's Hitler lighters, Hitler Zippos, Mussolini Zippos, etc.. Many Mussolini busts, and a few of Hitler are available. So if you've ever wanted to adorn your desk or office with a statue of Mussolini on a horse, now's the time! J Also has lots of different Fascist & NS patches, stickers, belt buckles, scarfs, small photos of Duce, statues of the Fasces, ash trays, posters, playing cards with Mussolini on them, etc.. Also has over a hundred shirts with everything on them from Mussolini, Fascist slogans, a Racist hooligan Snoopy, Skinhead stuff, Nazi stuff, etc. etc. etc.. Shipping is great, and sometimes they've even thrown in free stuff! This place rocks!

Cool looking "Hooligan/Hooliskin/Ultra" site based out of Italy. Seems to have a big emphasis on Italian & Hellenic fascism & casual & hooligan/skin kind of items, but also Ulster loyalist, Confederate and general racialist items as well. Somewhat unique about this site is that it sells shorts and trousers in addition to the usual flags, t-shirts etc.. It also has a line of Pitbull Germany merchandise, a brand of merch I personally have always loved big time. T-shirts displaying some of the most militant firms and teams out there, like the Chelsea Headhunters, Ultras, Vandals, Verona, West Ham, Millwall, etc. are also present. Really it's a badass looking store. I've had no experience with ordering from it, and the ordering process seems a bit tricky (you send them what you want, then they get back to you on the shipping and payment details, etc..) Still, its been around for at least a few years if not more, so they must be doing something right.

An online Ulster/British Loyalist shop containing a wide variety of loyalist items, such as badges, polos, flags, etc.. Contains some of the increasingly rare Loyalist paramilitary items, as well as various paramilitary and loyalist band Cds. Buying from the shop is an experience. One time I ordered from them and figured my order was either lost or just wasn't sent after a month of waiting. Much to my surprise I find a package one day loaded with close to twice as much as I had ordered, as they had run out of a few of the things I ordered. The second time I ordered, they only had about half the items myself and a friend had wanted, but they made up for it by again putting in about twice as much merchandise then had been originally purchased. So, you might say ordering from these guys is a bit of a crapshoot, but one you'll always come out on top of.

www.rampageproductions.co.uk

Rampage Productions is a decent store from the UK, affiliated I believe with Blood and Honour. I've only ordered once, and I did get my items. The only real issue I would say is that it is quite expensive to order from here with the shipping and all. I don't think it is the store's fault so much as it is ordering from the UK in general. They were prompt and had good communication. They don't have a ton of items available in comparison to the other sites we've listed, but there are some very cool B&H & British OI! Shirts available. I'd definitely recommend this one if you've got the cash to spare.

www.getsome88.com

I haven't ordered from this webshop, but several good comrades of mine have, and they all report excellent service. Contains a lot of "classic" American WP designs, as well as some newer stuff. Has patches, flags (some rarer then usual), hoodies, a few books, etc.. It also includes a some merchandise for women and kids. Website is well built and features lines of merchandise like "hooligan shorts" and "Gear of the Gods", as well as a variety of White Power socks (lol!). All in all, highly recommended, and the people running it seem really to be for the cause as opposed to just lining their own pockets.

This is (I believe) a Ku Klux Klan run website featuring all things Klan and Confederate. Has MANY unique Klan, Confederate and racist patches, as well as decals, hats, berets, KKK belt buckles, and so forth. It's also reputedly the most reliable place to have custom Klan robes made, as well as custom Klan dolls. I've heard nothing but good things about this site, although I have not yet ordered from it myself. The only thing that I would hesitate on buying is their line of t-shirts, which appear to be cheaply done iron-ons. Regardless, recommended to anyone into the Klan, in the Klan, or an admirer thereof. Website also contains info on upcoming Ku Klux Klan events.

Faith and Action - Traits of the Youth

The following paragraphs are taken from an old Hitler Youth booklet. Each paragraph is relative to desired traits sought within the young men and women of Germany during those times. I feel they are just as relative today as they were then. Every issue will contain different paragraphs.

Discipline

“Savages and half-savages have courage, but only advanced people have discipline. Discipline is the ability to fall in line. Discipline is carrying out an order without knowing the reason, without understanding. Discipline also means enduring injustice for the sake of a good cause. Discipline is iron virtue and silent obedience. Discipline comes from within yourself. You accept it because you follow a higher will. He who does not do this will be forced by steely necessity, which alone can overcome the lack of will and weakness of many, making of them useful members of the people and the state. Discipline is a spiritual attitude. Law and command work through it for the good of all. Any weakening of discipline is the beginning of collapse. Each is called to ensure that he himself and the man next to him behave in a disciplined way.”

Honesty

There should be nothing false in you! The Jew is dishonest. He is born that way and is ever full of deceit. You are born to be honest and to remain honest. Your face does not lie, your words are true, your actions are clear and can stand before all. You will say no word about a comrade that you cannot say to his face. If you do so, you destroy the community and injure your honor and that of the other. You become dishonest. You would not think of stealing ten pfennig from a comrade. How trivial that is when compared to stealing honor from someone who does not realize it, who is unable to defend himself. Compared to that, the thief one puts in prison has committed but a small offense. Possessions are of less value than honor. A thief has more honor than a slanderer. The first demand of honor is that one holds the honor of others as their highest possession. The next demand of honor is that one respects the property of others, which they have earned by hard word and industry. It must again become such in Germany that one can leave one's doors unlocked at night. It must again be such that every lost piece of property is returned and that one can trust unknown citizens with one's money and possessions. We want once again to have the honor of a farmer. It should be as it still is in the north, where one can leave one's house and land without locking the door, because there is no dishonesty. An end must be made of all dishonest behavior. It should be wrung out of us. There should be a new generation in Germany, honest in word and deed, because honor is to it more necessary than life itself. And woe to him who sins against it.

Faith

Knowledge is that which can be measured by reason. Knowledge alone means nothing and is dead. A wish that you can fulfill is called hope. Hope can easily come to nothing. But faith can never fail, for faith is strength. Faith springs from your deepest feelings. It is that knowledge for which there is no explanation through reason. In faith the soul sees a part of the world order. It has a sense of that which should be, and sees through its eyes a part of the way that it should and can go. It knows that by going this way it fulfills god's command and is working toward the great work that is immeasurable, incomprehensible. Because faith sees this and can do it, it is more than human strength. It is a part of the enormous power that fills all life and all worlds. With faith, a person walks with the assurance of a sleepwalker. Who can resist him, for he follows the path of the highest will. He will succeed when he believes. No hand raised against him will divert him from his way. The bullet aimed at him will not hit as long has he has not finished his path, as long as he has not turned from it. Thousands do not understand the believing person because their souls cannot see. But what do the faithful care about the opinion of others, what do those who can see care about the opinion of the blind, what do those who have become strong care about what the weak think. The way of faith is the way of everything great. Before our eyes Adolf Hitler went the way fate led him. He was filled with it and believed what no reason of the reasonable could see. The path of faith is before each of us. Even if it is not the path of fame and honor, it is still the path of duty and of greatest happiness. To find it means to gain a part of the eternal strength that moves the worlds. Because faith is strength, it can do what seems impossible. It is the foundation for every deed. No one can do anything without faith. No one can even jump over a ditch if he does not believe he can do it. The highest and most important in a person is not knowledge and understanding, but rather his faith. Each is worth only as much as the faith he has. This new Reich began with faith. The first party rally after the seizure of power was called "The Victory of Faith." It grew and became great through faith. It no longer grew from the faith of one man, but from the faith of us all, and was borne by the strength of all. More than human strength was present. Woe to those who do not believe. They are not on the side of the strength of creation, but rather annihilation. They are the destroyers of the Reich. Faith is however stronger than all other powers that can be found in this world.

Freedom

There is no freedom in Germany to do whatever one wants, and there will be no such freedom, because otherwise Germany would not exist. Freedom does not mean taking advantage of others, stealing from them, without being punished. Freedom does not mean living as one pleases. Nor does it mean preserving one's life through cowardice. Freedom is choosing to follow the path that duty requires. The others are slaves of themselves. He is the only free man: upright and proud, master of everything that might demean him, the best of the nation, the bearer of the state. He has elevated himself. He does his duty while others take a holiday. But his duty raises him above over his little ego and makes him free. Somewhere in the middle of a hot summer, a village's well dries up. Day and night, someone works hard to dig a new well. No one gave the order. But for him it is a happy duty to find water for women and children and comrades. The other does what he likes. The one is a free man amidst the hard work he has chosen to do. The other is the slave of his desires and passions. He is a rogue who may say in the pub that man is born free and can do whatever he wishes. He who thinks of himself is a slave and bound; he who thinks of others is master and free.

Blood

You carry in your blood the holy inheritance of your fathers and forefathers. You do not know those who have vanished in endless ranks into the darkness of the past. But they all live in you and walk in your blood upon the earth that consumed them in battle and toil and in which their bodies have long decayed. Your blood is therefore something holy. In it your parents gave you not only a body, but your nature. To deny your blood is to deny yourself. No one can change it. But each decides to grow the good that one has inherited and suppress the bad. Each is also given will and courage. You do not have only the right, but also the duty to pass your blood on to your children, for you are a member of the chain of generations that reaches from the past into eternity, and this link of the chain that you represent must do its part so that the chain is never broken. But if your blood has traits that will make your children unhappy and burdens to the state, then you have the heroic duty to be the last. The blood is the carrier of life. You carry in it the secret of creation itself. Your blood is holy, for in it God's will lives.

In Closing…

Thanks for reading the T.O.Tenkopf. Next issue, you can expect all of the articles you've come to expect such as movement news, cd reviews, beer review, explorations in Skinema film review, etc., but also the following:

-Adolf Hitler memorial review report
- Interview with H8 Machine
- a more extensive website shop review section
-An expose on the IRA, entitled "IRA Scum"
-a continuation of the F.A.Q. section of this issue
-much more on the ideology of the T.O.T and its continued development (multiple essays)
- An essay on the ideal T.O.T member, what he/she should and shouldn't be.
-Continuance of "Flags of Resistance" article, this time dealing with the flags of Italian fascism and more
-Some thoughts on what constitutes progressive thought within the movement
-Defining the nature of the enemies of our race, and why they are our enemies
-Aryan Woman essay

All this and probably a lot more. Stay tuned…until then, this is your faithful editor Albion Bulldog, signing out. 88/14, G.M.U., Sieg Heil & White Power! NO SURRENDER!
